DEFINITION

• Bullying behaviour involves an abuse of power that is hurtful, embarrassing, threatening or frightening.
• Harassment is characterized by persistently threatening, intimidating or tormenting behaviour towards a person. Such acts may be physical or psychological and not always obvious. It can be intentional or unintentional and may involve individuals or groups. All forms of bullying, whether physical, verbal, sexual or cyber, are not tolerated at any level.
The following behaviours may constitute bullying:

Physical: Including, but not limited to, fighting, pushing, hitting, bumping, spitting, slapping, shoving, kicking, tripping, stalking, obstructing, practical jokes, stealing, damaging or interfering with personal property, invasion of personal space, gestures or making threatening motions

Verbal: Including, but not limited to, name-calling, put-downs, offensive language, intrusive questions about personal matters, “nuisance” telephone calls, teasing, spreading malicious rumours or gossip, threats of violence, intimidation, mocking, taunting, sexual comments of a demeaning nature, racist or homophobic comments, cultural or religious slurs, ridiculing or swearing at, playing nasty jokes to embarrass or humiliate, encourage others to socially exclude someone

Visual: Including, but not limited to, gestures and body language, graffiti, offensive notes, photos or drawings distributed via emails, SMS, posted on websites, chat rooms or other electronic media.

Psychological: Including, but not limited to, stand-over tactics, extortion and blackmail, damage to others’ possessions, threats, exclusion, “keeping off”, persistent criticism or unreasonable demands.

Cyber: Including, but not limited to, teasing, spreading rumours online, sending unwanted messages, or defamation, creating websites to defame another, damage their social reputation or social acceptance, create a demeaning alias or target individual through any form of digital technology. Sexual: is defined as any form of unwanted verbal, nonverbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature that creates an intimidating, hostile, degrading or offensive environment. It may include physical contact, invasion of personal space, suggestive remarks or sounds, unwanted comments on dress and appearance, jokes of a sexual nature, display of sexually offensive material and unwanted conduct that is related to the sex of a person.

NOTE: Certain distressing behaviours may not be classed as incidents of bullying/harassment even though they are unpleasant and require teacher intervention and management. Please contact the college if you have any concerns in this regard

Mutual Conflict: Involves an argument or disagreement between people but not an imbalance of power. Both parties are upset and usually both want a resolution. Unresolved mutual conflict can develop into bullying if one of the parties targets the other repeatedly in retaliation. Social rejection or dislike: is not bullying unless it involves deliberate and repeated attempts to cause distress, exclude or create dislike by others.

A single episode of nastiness or physical aggression is not bullying and should not be ignored or condoned as these are unacceptable behaviours.
